Annual meeting of Clement R. Bon Temps Post, No. 139, of Hancock county, was held in Bay St. Louis Wednesday night, when the election of officers to serve for the ensuing year was held.

As a deserved compliment and recognition of his efforts and accomplishment, Commander Laurent Dickson was re-elected, as well as several other officers were re-elected.

The Bon Temps Post of Hancock county is one of the active organizations of its kind in the State and serves to splendid purposes.

Result of the balloting follows:

Commander, Comrade Laurent Dickson, re-elected.

1st. Vice Commander, Com. P. D. Nease.

2nd. Vice Commander, Com. W. B. Graham, re-elected.

3rd. Vice Commander, Com. Fred Fayard, re-elected.

Post Adjutant, Com. J. L. Bynum, re-elected.

Speakers of interest held the attention of their comrades throughout the entire meeting. Com. Henry Capdepon gave important information relative to some ways claims are handled also stressing the facts why ex-service men should belong to the Legion and the benefits to be derived in the future by their families and the community and the expense saved by consulting the Legion in death claims. Com. Capdepon urged that the ex-service men should not wait until it is too late and put that situation in the hands of his mother, father, or wife at the time of distress, but be in harmony with his fellow comrades and get this information from the American Legion Post. Members enjoy more because they benefit by being in contact with their fellow members. "Be a Member." Legion hospitality awaits you. You did not hesitate then! Why now? The organization is over a million strong in actual paid up membership.

The meeting was followed by a "hot dog supper" and smoker, every body present enjoyed themselves.

NIGHT CLUB HAS IDEAL LOCATION

Former Norton Dwelling and Gardens Offer Beauty and Spacious Quarters.

Feeling that patrons of a first-class and properly-conducted night club rather a place that is surrounded by the environment of the beauty of spacious grounds and sub-tropical garden, the management of the Bay Night Club, which for nine weeks held successful sway at the Bay-Waveland yacht club building announces the opening this Saturday night of the same night club at the former Norton summer home, facing the waters of where Jordan river converges with the waters of the Bay of St. Louis and slightly off Dunbar avenue near the North Beach Boulevard.

"A night club is always located slightly outside of the city," said one of the managers, "where there is the pleasure of a ride to and from away from the congested quarters. The grounds of the Norton place are inviting and with proper illumination will serve the purpose to the pleasure of the public. Besides, the building is roomy and offers such quarters as are necessary."

There will be a cover charge of $1.00 per couple and there will be dancing, dining and entertainment. All of which will be the maximum of pleasure and refreshment for the minimum of cost.

Such a place will prove popular not only with residents and visitors to the Bay-Waveland section but to those who inhabit and visit other sections of the Coast. Bay St. Louis is universally popular. Pleasure-loving people never fail to come here and the Bay Night Club promises to fill a long-felt want, especially through the fall and winter months when there seems little or nothing else in this line of pleasure. The east section of the coast has its night club, then why not the west coast section?

BAY PARENT-TEACHER ASS'N BEGINS INTENSE DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

Local Organization for School Children's Welfare to Begin in Earnest—Aims and Objects Are Manifest—World Goes Forward on the Feet of Little Children

The Mississippi Congress of Parents and Teachers, through the local associations, is beginning an intensive drive for members. Surely there is no organization whose aims, objects and fundamental reasons for existence, which could make a stronger appeal to public sympathy and interest. Service to childhood embodied in its seven-fold objective of the Wise use of Leisure.

Ethical Character, Health and Safety, Worthy Home Membership, School Education, Faithful Citizenship, and Effective Work is the aim of each Parent-Teacher Association and it has been amplified by the "Children's Charter" drawn up at the recent White House Conference of Nationally known men and women in Child Welfare Work. This charter has been accepted as a great challenge by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers numbering 4,000,000 who are carrying on in each State of the Union.

More than 75 per cent of the membership subscription of $1.20 is used for welfare work locally. The Bay St. Louis public is already cognizant of the active work of local Parent-Teacher groups in carrying out splendid health program through the Summer Round-Up.

Eighty-two preschool children were given a free medical examination. This was followed by three splendid tonsil clinics under Dr. Kotz Allen. But without public support and cooperation further work cannot go on; milk cannot be supplied for the undernourished, books for the underprivileged, and an equal opportunity given every child. So the public is being earnestly solicited to join whatever school P. T. A. it is personally interested in and in this way contribute a bit to the Health, Happiness and opportunity of every child. The world goes forward on the feet of little children.

Board of Supervisors For Hancock In Regular Session for September

Board of Supervisors for Hancock county, President Emilio Cue in the chair, reconvened last Monday in regular monthly session for September and is still in session as The Echo goes to press Thursday evening. The meeting, considering the budget for the coming fiscal year, has been a most busy one, the board pruning expenses with a view of reducing taxation as far down as possible. President Cue, like other members of the Board, are doing all possible within their power to reduce expenses of the county to the lowest minimum possible and to render the public such relief from taxation as will be humanly possible. Mr. Cue and his associates are devoting much time to this problem and giving undivided time and attention in order that the public may profit in view of the tenseness of times.

Benefit Card Party For Monday Afternoon September 21st, at 2

Women's Catholic Foresters of Bay St. Louis announce a special benefit card party will be held at the former Bay-Waveland yacht club building on the afternoon of Monday, September 21, at 2 o'clock. The prizes will be unique inasmuch as at each table a home-made cake will be offered to the highest scorer. The amount of money thus realized will be appropriated to the church debt fund, and as this is an appealing cause sufficient to say the patronage will be liberal.

CHIEF ALBERT JONES RETURNS FROM LONG AUTO TRIP TO KY.

Visits Relatives at Carrollton, Ky., and Goes Over Ohio State Line Into Cincinnati.

Former Chief of Police, Albert Jones, accompanied by Mrs. Jones and a little grandson returned home a few days ago from an auto trip that covered a distance of nearly two thousand miles, and without the slightest mishap or inconvenience.

The Chief says the trip was first to Carrollton, Ky., where Mr. and Mrs. Pasqual Piazza, son-in-law and daughter, live and where they visited for several days. During the stay a trip over the State line brought them to Cincinnati where the metropolitan phases of the Ohio city were enjoyed.

"We traveled by way of Alabama, going through Birmingham and further on through Tennessee. The roadways were steeped and we traversed many hills, over roads that were either hard-surfaced or gravelled."

"How were the gravelled roads?" the reporter queried.

"The truth of the matter is I rather like the gravelled roads. I do not mean the kind of heavy and dangerous kinds we have hereabouts. There a gravel road means a smooth surface and the gravel is so packed and even-like that one hardly sees a loose pebble. Such roads are not only safe but there is much pleasure in driving over such roadway that is smooth and where the car seems to hold a better grip."

Chief and Mrs. Jones patronized the touring camps and express much satisfaction over the improvement of the tourist camps of other days. He says such places today are found frequently and represent the last word in comfort, attention and equipment. The cost is negligible and the comforts and attention are all that one could expect.

"How was the heat?" was queried.

"Not at all," was the reply. "And we are glad to be back in Bay St. Louis. In the section of the country where we visited," said the Chief, "the country is so hilly and steep that it seems you talk to your neighbor from one hilltop to the other."

"This Gulf Coast of Mississippi and especially this section is God's country, and while we enjoyed the trip to and fro and the stay as well, for it was our annual vacation trip, I am glad to be back home and have no inclination of leaving—at an early date, at least."

Chief Jones drove his car to and fro and recommends trip. Everyone needs a vacation, he says; everyone needs to be taken out of himself and environments occasionally. It does one thing at least, he concluded it makes you appreciate home better and brings you to a sense of reality to the effect that we are far better off than the average people elsewhere who fret and fume about making a living and still worry after they have made it. Here we want for little and are satisfied and happy.

STRAIGHT TALK.

Editorial From
Pine Bluff (Ark.) Commercial.

The talk by Brother Peter before the Rotary club made a profound impression on those who heard about it. It was a straightforward message on a vital subject and, because it was considerably wistful than some of the usual luncheon club palaver, men went back to their places of business thinking about what they had heard. Brother Peter's discussion of the evil influences that sway the youth of today was authentically flavored with his years of experience in dealing with boys.

Men can understand the problems of boys, though men can become so wrapped up in their business affairs that they neglect their boys. The conditions of living in this fast age are such that fathers find little opportunity, apparently, to become the confidants of their boys. They are denied, or deny themselves, the privilege of advising with their sons out of the fruits of their own experience and helping to smooth the way when the going is rough.

Thinking men have catalogued the three cardinal elements of a progressive nation as the home, church and government, listed in the order of their importance. Influences that strike at the stability of the American home strikes at the pillars of the American nation. More frank, intelligent speeches, like the one at the Rotary club yesterday, are needed. Laymen, as well as pulpites, must strike back in defense against any agency that would tarnish or tear down the fabric of the American home.

City Begins On Work Of Making Budget For Next Fiscal Year

Work of making the city's budget for next year began Wednesday afternoon and will continue until such time until the task will have been accomplished. The city is endeavoring to lower taxation and with this in view will cut current and other expenses for next year with a big and sharp pruning knife.

BAY ROTARY IS ACTIVE AND DOING

Rev. Gerard Jones, of Pass Christian, Speaks at Club—Pat Harrison Accepts Invitation.

Rev. Gerard Jones, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, at Pass Christian, was the guest of honor and speaker for the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club Wednesday noon, his subject, "Public Opinion," dividing his subjects into different analytical periods—from of old down to the present period, and giving a recital of the different phases of thought as it came under the head of his subject.

Rev. Jones engaged his listeners with his scholarly and masterly address, and compared the usefulness of Rotary club, its ethics and general principles, with the betterment it might accomplish.

"The luncheon clubs are serving a splendid purpose," he said. "They do not merely represent a group of men who assemble periodically and lunch, but, on the contrary, men who represent aims and objects and who interpret the best thought and who are up and doing for the community and people."

Mr. Jones, who recently assumed the pulpit at the Christian is also a member of the Pass Christian Rotary Club, and brought tidings from that club. He was formally introduced, preceding the speaking, by George R. Rea, member of the Program Committee.

Report on Resolutions.

Jos. O. Mauffray, chairman, and Arthur A. Scaife, secretary of the committee on resolutions, reported and read resolutions on the recent death of H. S. Weston, member Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, which resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Senator Pat Harrison has accepted an invitation to attend the Bay Rotary Club and will soon appear locally.

A meeting of the board of directors followed the luncheon-meeting and phases for the club's immediate expansion were discussed and adopted.

Among those present at the board of directors' meeting were Leo W. Seal, C. G. McDonald, Joseph O. Mauffray, John J. McDonald, Dr. J. A. Evans, Prof. S. J. Ingram, A. A. Scaife, Chas. G. Moreau.

The Bay St. Louis Rotary Club is one of the most active and representative civic organizations of the city and its activities continue along various lines of endeavor.

The Rotary Night School is now in full swing and offers to boys and girls, working daylight hours, an unusual opportunity for a practical education. Prof. S. J. Ingram heads the night school.

Program Committee reports an active and interesting schedule of speakers for the season and members and invited guests have a mental treat ahead.

Nomination Sustained And No Cause Shown To Recount Ballots

Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee met at the courthouse last Saturday morning to hear the plea of H. W. Driver, late candidate for supervisor, asking for a recount of ballots recently voted in the second county primary.

The committee gave its decision that Mr. Emilio Cue, the present incumbent as member Board of Supervisors, Beat 5, had been duly nominated within the prescribed time to do so following the election and that since there were no grounds for a recount, Mr. Cue had been officially declared the nominee and that such nomination would stand.

The committee made its position not only clear but the chairman emphatically made the declaration.

Plan to Organize A Garden Club For Bay St. Louis and Vicinity

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Sherman, accompanied by Mrs. Liversedge, residents of Bay St. Louis, were visitors to Bay St. Louis Monday afternoon in the specific interest of organizing a Garden Club for this section, the same as in Pass Christian, Gulfport and Biloxi, and federated with the Mississippi State Garden Club.

Mrs. George R. Rea, who made such a success of the Bay Music Club, and others were interviewed and interested in the project and it was resolved that a survey would be made and the matter reported within a very short time. There are many beautiful and interesting flower gardens in and around Bay St. Louis—many flower growers and the advantage to be derived from the organization of such a club, would prove not only of interest but of constructive value.

Mr. Sherman is an authority, and the local club would have the worth of his knowledge and assistance.

LOCAL COLLEGE HEAD TRAVELED EXTENSIVELY LY THE PAST WEEKS

Bro. Peter, President St. Stanislaus, Covers 11,000-Mile Trip Over Southland.

Bro. Peter, president St. Stanislaus College, prior to the opening of the present session of college, returned from an extensive trip, covering 11,000 miles, that took him over quite a bit of Southern territory, including Alabama, Arkansas and Texas.

During his trip Bro. Peter traveled part of the time lecturing to Rotary, Kiwanis and other clubs of the kind, filling invitations he had received to speak, and, incidentally, it is interesting to note that Bro. Peter is one of the program speakers for the Bay Rotary Club during the early part of October.

Sixty-two pupils is the number added to the last year enrollment of St. S. C. and which brings the attendance of the college this year to the usual high water mark, with more soon to matriculate.

Stanislaus is well and widely known and the reputation of the "School of Character" has no trouble for patronage, regardless of the depression.

From different newspaper reports, The Echo notes where Bro. Peter's addresses before the various civic clubs, were received with much acclaim and wherever he spoke an invitation was extended for a return date next season.

It is noted Bro. Peter is quite a booster for Bay St. Louis and the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Wherever he travels and lectures he never fails to tell of this section. Personally he is tremendously popular, as at home, and his visits over an itinerary of eleven thousand miles will prove of beneficial results to the cause he represents and the section from which he comes.

New City Democratic Executive Committee Elected Saturday

Pursuant to a call promulgated by Leo W. Seal, chairman of the County Democratic Executive Committee, a public mass meeting was held at the City Hall Saturday night for the nomination of names and the election of members to the City Democratic Executive Committee.

There were six nominations. From these the following-named were elected: regular ballots, secretly voted, cast: H. W. Driver, Jesse Coward, Chas. G. Moreau. Over one hundred ballots were cast.

CLAYTON RAND TELLS OF RECENT TRIP TO MEXICO IN OWN PAPER

Clayton Rand, publisher Mississippi Guide, at Gulfport, recently returned from a trip to Mexico City, who thrilled members and guests of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club last week with an address about this trip, recently carried the following story of his journey and visit in his own paper, the Guide, which Mr. Rand has permitted The Echo to herewith reproduce. Travel always has its lure and descriptions and observations, such as the scholar, editor and publisher is capable of, will make the reading doubly interesting. He writes:

Your editor has just returned to his desk from a sojourn which in the last three weeks has taken him over much of Old Mexico. It would be impossible to put into even a dozen columns the experiences or observations with which the last few weeks have been enriched. In these few paragraphs I shall attempt only to emphasize the important.

NEW STORE BUILDING GOING UP

Philip Levine Replacing Old Belmont Cafe With New Fireproof Mercantile Structure.

A force of workmen are engaged in demolishing the two-story frame building that for years has housed the business of Joseph Scaife known as the Belmont Hotel and Cafe.

Recently Philip Levine, owner of the building, negotiated with Scaife for the termination of a long-lease in order that he might have active possession of his property with a view of tearing down same and rebuilding in its stead a more modern and fireproof building. This negotiation was recently successfully affected.

Mr. Levine will construct a one-story building of the mercantile type of structure, occupying the full length of the lot of 60 feet. This building will be divided into two store apartments, one of which Mr. Levine says is already rented and the other being negotiated for by an outside business. However, the latter is only tentative.

The new building that will take the place of the present "fire trap," as Mr. Levine termed it, will be constructed of hollow tiles and brick with a liberal application of cement and concrete and will be in continuation of the present row of business buildings.

Such enterprise is worthy of mention and will not only give employment but will add to the upbuilding of that business section of the city opposite the Louisville & Nashville railroad.

The rumor that Mr. Levine was building a movie house is without foundation.

Mrs. Walter Willis of New Orleans, international recording secretary of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons and state president of the Louisiana branch of this order, will be the honor guest at the Mississippi state convention at Bay St. Louis, October 26 to 28. Mrs. A. F. Fournier, Mississippi president announces, Mrs. Willis will be one of the speakers the first night of the convention at the open session which will convene at the First Methodist church, presenting international and state greetings to the Mississippi delegates.

The convention call has been issued by Mrs. Fournier for the convention at Bay St. Louis instructing the circles as to representation. Each circle is entitled to representation by the leader and one delegate for each ten members. If the circle number less than ten the representation will be the leader and one delegate. Delegates whose circle have met state and international dues will vote. All delegates are asked to attend the convention instructed by their circles as to home and state work plans. Dues and pledges are to be sent to the state treasurer, Mrs. V. T. McClelland, Jackson; and membership lists in triplicate are to be sent to the recording secretary, Miss Lucy McKay, Greenwood. Names of delegates are to be sent to the state president, Mrs. A. F. Fournier at Bay St. Louis. Junior and young people's circles delegates will be governed by the same voting privileges as the seniors.

Every circle is to have a three-minute typewritten report of work done during the year which is to be read at the convention. Circles which will not have delegates at the convention will send their reports to the recording secretary, Miss Lucy McKay. These reports will be taken at the day sessions of the convention.

At this convention all branch officers will be elected for the ensuing year. A memorial service for members who have died during the last year will be held and names of the departed should be sent to the state president.

The convention will open officially the night of October 26 and close at the noon hour October 28, and delegates are expected to be in attendance for the entire session. Official registration will be the morning of October 27 at St. Joseph's Academy. The Bay St. Louis Circle is making preparation for the local entertainment which will include a banquet the night of October 27 and a Coast ride following adjournment October 28 in the afternoon with visits to several Coast gardens.

Samuel Brook Dickson, Business and Social Leader Dies at N. O.

Samuel Brook Dickson, well-known business and social leader of New Orleans, died at his home at 1939 Carrollton avenue, that city, Tuesday morning, aged 45 years and after an illness of six months.

Mr. Dickson was cousin of Mrs. L. S. Elliott, residing in Union street, Bay St. Louis, and it was Mr. Dickson who had traveled over Europe last summer with Mrs. Elliott's mother, the Rev. R. J. Kirschner, of Denver, Colorado, also a cousin of the deceased.

Mr. Dickson had been president of the Brook Tarapaulin Company since 1912, succeeding his father, the late Charles Dickson, founder of the firm to the presidency upon the latter's death. He was a director of the Whitney Trust and Savings Bank, Poydras street branch, and was a member of the Young Men's Business Club.

The Dickson family came to New Orleans from England several generations ago. Mr. Dickson's mother, who survives him, was before his marriage to Charles Dickson, a Katherine Klein, also a member of the prominent New Orleans family.

In addition to his mother, Mr. Charles Dickson, S. Brook Dickson survived by his widow, who was formerly Miss Corine Toledano, and three sisters, Mrs. A. M. Pope, New York City; Mrs. H. M. Estes, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. L. C. Anderson, Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. Dickson had frequently visited Bay St. Louis, and was by no means a stranger along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

TRULY AN EDUCATIONAL CENTER.

THE Echo has frequently had cause to comment on the fact that Bay St. Louis is a city of homes, a city of churches and last but by no means least, an educational center.

This is quite a distinction and serves to make this section all the more a place to abide in dwelling habitat. In fact the whole coast might lay claim to be an educational center, since there are so many institutions, private and public, that dot the long strand of shore line. But Bay St. Louis as a city, as a one place, lays claim to the particular distinction that it is an educational center.

Comparisons might be odious, but the fact remains that possibly no town or city within the State and comparatively of size of Bay St. Louis may claim like number of public and private schools and institutions of learning. Its various institutions and schools are accredited or affiliated with the outside and higher sphere of learning, and it is well known that today boys and girls from here have gone away over the country are more than making good in their scholastic endeavors. It is well known, too, year after year, are noted students who matriculate here, registering from away and extending far south into the latin countries.

Thus we have in its many phases of social and economic life a center where the foundations for our future men and women may well be implanted and given that foundation upon which academic and general moral training must so necessarily rest.

DREAMING OF TREASURE.

Millions of citizens, including most of those in Bay St. Louis, have often dreamed of discovering caves, in which would be seen rubies, diamonds, platinum and gold, in bewildering quantities of vast value.

News from London tells of the story told by a big game hunter, who avers he found such a cave in unexplored country of Abyssinia, near where the Queen of Sheba is supposed to have cached her wealth, which dazzled Solomon.

Regardless of whether the story is true it will probably set little boys and girls to dreaming again, whether their ages be ten or twelve or forty or fifty. Most human beings hope for great wealth, with as little effort as possible. Few of us are able to subscribe to the principle that riches to be deserved should be earned.

Ideas are valuable only when put into effect; applies to advertising.

Religion is living; not a collection of nice ideas about what ought to be.

Useless statistics: The U. S. oyster crop for 1931 will be 18,000,000 bushels.

This is the time of year that hay-fever victims wonder why the world has to have hay.

Our idea of a washout is the man who thinks everybody is interested in his small son.

Well, it's about time for the prosperity boys to begin telling us better times are around the corner.

What's become of the fellow who used to tell about how much he made on the market's daily advances?

Americans who wonder why China doesn't control her great rivers have probably forgotten the Mississippi flood.

When you pay the bills that you owe, stop making new ones, and you will not be bothered with collectors on the first of the month.

Our own economics: The world can't have a revival of prosperity until there is some way to promote trade between nations on a large scale.

This newspaper is published as a community asset, with the hope that our citizens will use it, write for it, read it, like it and, maybe, support it.

There are some people who don't believe in buying what they need in Bay St. Louis although they are anxious to sell what they have to the people here.

No man is bigger than Bay St. Louis. Every individual should cooperate in the task of making it a better place for children to live, to grow and to develop in.

Learn a word a day and by the time you are ten years older you will have added 3653 new words to your vocabulary; that's probably more than you have now.

With the 1931 big leagues baseball season now drawing to a close, it is almost an assured fact that the Philadelphia and St. Louis teams will be the contestants in the world series.

Among the beneficiaries of an emergency fund for the unemployed being disbursed in New York it was found that one man getting relief was the owner of $59,200 worth of real estate.

BAY ST. LOUIS' SUMMER SEASON.

ESSENTIALLY a watering and summer resort, Bay St. Louis year after year, for possibly a century or more, has and still holds its prestige as a favorite retreat for all who would flee away from the torrid heat of metropolitan and other congested centers, to say nothing of the heat of the interior and upstate country, and this year, regardless of opinion to the contrary, has enjoyed another season of social activity and general prosperity. The Bay-Waveland district and vicinity has well had their quota.

Of late seasons, since the advent of automobiles, the crowds have not diminished but have varied. Various groups come and go, some spending the week-end, others a fortnight, some a month and owners of summer homes the season—in all a general influx no smaller than other seasons. Perhaps as a whole considerably augmented.

The Bay St. Louis section of the Gulf Coast well holds its own. Successive generations have summered here and will continue to do so. There is an especial charm about this section. Some fail one season in order to go elsewhere in quest of change of scenery, environment and general conditions, but this makes their longing all the more for a return to Bay St. Louis the year following.

We have had a splendid season. People come here by the thousands, play and linger under the spell of that lure peculiar to this section. They come and stay. They leave at the end of the season only to return again each successive year, thus popularizing one of the finest summer resorts of the country. This is an asset well worthy of comment; a phase of prestige that is of inestimable value, and it is no wonder that we who live here all the year—and would live no where else, as a matter of choice—are naturally and justly proud of the place we call home.

STATE PRESS ON COAST.

THE Gulf Coast will be host to the Mississippi State Press Association at Biloxi Friday and Saturday of this week, and in view of the fact that Mississippi is going through an economic depression the meeting will no doubt be one of a most constructive phase, regardless of the elaborate entertainment program that has been prepared, and, which will be enjoyed.

Like other banded men and women, representing endeavor, these who wield the pen and mould public opinion, with interpretative thought, will discuss the various problems that are facing the people of the State today. These problems affect the public in many ways, socially, morally and politically. They will not be solved, but intelligent discussion and suggested application will prove of hope and value.

Our State has possibly suffered more through discredit in the eyes of the world than any other. Our educational institutions have been gagged and beaten to that point where executive reason seems to have been dethroned and little or no hope appears. But the incoming state administration promises to restore the things we have been forced to see ruthlessly shattered.

The Mississippi State Press Association represents in a great measure some of the best thought of the State, men and women not only of academic learning but of training and perception, to say nothing of experience, and the convention will be one of interest. With such galaxy of thinkers and doers the assembly and its deliberations will be watched with interest.

The Gulf Coast welcomes the delegation of the Mississippi State Press Association. The Coast is fast becoming the Mecca for conventions and what an admirable place it is to hold such meetings!

KING'S DAUGHTERS STATE CONVENTION.

BAY ST. LOUIS will be host to the 31st annual convention of the Mississippi Branch of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons, next month, October 26, 27, 28, with headquarters at Hotel Weston, and convention sessions to be held at St. Joseph Academy Gym.

Mrs. Alexander Foster Fournier, State President, will preside, with Miss Lucy McKay as recording secretary. Mrs. E. J. Leonhard is president of the local circle.

This convention will represent all sections of the State. There will be many delegates and the three-day session held on the Gulf Coast will prove a double incentive, in addition to the cause represented, to attract a large registration. An interesting program is in course of preparation and will shortly be presented in print.

In addition to their business sessions, delegates will find an elaborate program awaiting them. The entertainment will be varied, including a formal luncheon, banquet and a trip along the Coast, visiting the Hecht famous Japanese gardens and the Simmons gardens at Pass Christian.

Mrs. Fournier is striving hard, and has the undivided support of the community to make the stay of the delegates interesting; a warm welcome and cordial reception awaits the visitors and Bay St. Louis' proverbial hospitality will not be lacking. The King's Daughters State convention in Bay St. Louis next month will be an event not to be forgotten.

A GOOD ORDER.

Some hunters are not all pleased with President Hoover's order issued recently, limiting the killing of ducks next season to 30 days. They are wrong, as indiscriminate slaughter as it has been practiced during the past seasons means extermination of ducks in the next year or two.

We read in the papers that prohibition campaigners will tour 260 cities to "resell prohibition to the country." To our way of thinking the campaigners are undertaking a big job.

Arkansas has no money to longer pay pensions to her Confederate veterans. The State made the mistake of granting pensions to all the veterans living in the State regardless of whether they served in Arkansas regiments or were natives of the State, and it resulted in many veterans and widows of veterans from other States to take up their residence there.

VIEWS OF OUR NEWS
By Chicagoan

A Review of the News of Last Week's Echo.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 15.—The importance of all things is relative. To some women right now the most important thing is whether or not the look before her set an Empress Eugenie hat. No arguments, please! What I started to say was that Miss Abbie Mollere, Miss Adele Scheib, Miss Ethel Strahan and Miss Pauline Ingram who, according to last week's Echo, have entered nurses' training, won't have a great deal of time to worry about styles, especially during their working hours. . . and there'll be plenty of them. And those who come under their tender care will find these uniforms with their dainty caps far more attractive than some of the latest creations from Paris (designed in New York). Years hence they will have in their memories visions of a pretty nurse. Others will be looking in picture albums and laughing at the hats worn by the ladies of 1931.

Clayton Rand, journalist and scholar, again treated the Bay St. Louis Rotary with one of his educational talks, says the Echo, thus maintaining the high quality of the speakers that appear weekly before that body of earnest men. In his speech, Mr. Rand recalled that Mexico City was a center of civilization and culture long before the settlement of other parts of North America. In many ways the culture of the Aztecs has never been surpassed. And as his listeners envisioned that old civilization, some of them perhaps wondered at what had taken place to cause the disappearance of the Aztec culture. Problems which that race could not solve caused it to be submerged into another group of the human family. The civilization of which we boast so much is not permanent. We must guard it by keeping our institutions intact. Otherwise, some Clayton Rand of another race may appear before a Rotary Club of the future and describe the heights to which America climbed before its decay set in.

Miss Pearl Kingston and Laton J. Weinberg chose a most delightful time of the year for the great move in their lives that made them man and wife. Harry Lauder, of course, thinks the time to wed is "when roses are red." But Harry is a songster you know, and I doubt that he ever stopped to think that roses bloom in the Coast Country most of the year. I have a sneaking suspicion that his presence for summer was born of the fact that "red" rhymes so well with "wed." Anyway, Sir Harry, if color is to be projected into the picture let me present the golden tints of September as the ideal background for a nuptial ceremony. But how happily Mr. and Mrs. Weinberg would smile even should I engage in an argument with the lyrical Scotsman. May their happiness continue unbroken! That's the wish of the host of Bay St. Louis friends. That's my wish. And could he have read last week's Echo, that too would have been the wish of Sir Harry Lauder.

To Jackson went Co. Supt. Everett last week, says the Echo. We went thither to attend a meeting of county superintendents from over the State. To that gathering he brought his extensive experience and his keen observations from which others in attendance will profit.

The Rotary Club of Bay St. Louis had done nothing more than institute the night school which as again opened, it would have for more than justified its existence. The school is free, says Prof. Ingram's announcement. There is no age limit. Enrollment can be made at any time. And the sessions are held three times each week, in the evenings so that they may be attended by those who work

INDIGESTION

"My work is confining, and often I eat hurriedly, causing me to have indigestion. Gas will form and I will smother and have pains in my chest."

"I had to be careful what I ate, but after someone had recommended Black-Draught and I found a small pinch after meals was so helpful, I soon was eating anything I wanted."

"Now when I feel the least smothering or uncomfortable bloating, I take a pinch of Black-Draught and get relief."

Mother's Love—the Inspiration of All
That Lives ForeverBy JOHN T. MEYERS
(For The Sea Coast Echo)

LIKE a happy dream that ends all too soon. . . so does one's vacation come to the end of its course. A dream is soon forgotten in life's busy turmoil, but a trip back home to visit among devoted relatives and sincere friends always an indelible mark in the memory of the visitor.

Throughout the months that must pass before another visit is possible, the many happy and pleasant experiences crowded into a short period of stay among the folks back home are relived many times over, and again in one's heart and memory.

Each succeeding journey homeward tends to magnify the tender, wholehearted sincerity of love and affection surrounding the treasured land that one in a distant place proudly and reverently refers to as—back home.

In moments of meditation there will be visionized many times a modest homestead nestled serenely amid stately towering pines just off the historic Old Spanish Trail. Somewhere in this personal setting there is a wonderful, devoted mother radiating love, cheer, and kindness throughout the day as she busies herself with household tasks.

And the sight of a moon-lit night regardless in what corner of the earth it may be witnessed will always reflect thoughts back to an unforgettable homeland scene of beauty, and peaceful quietude. In this seraphic mental picture there is a cozy, screened front gallery. . . drenched in the entrancing loveliness of a mid-summer Mississippi Gulf Coast moonlight. The odor of blooming roses intoxicates the murmuring night breeze as it echoes soothing melodies about the shadowy lawn and tree tops. The settings are captivating and bring a warm glow of satisfaction to the meditator. But the real charm of this picture centers about a divine mother. Like an earthly angel, she sits peacefully in her favorite rocking chair. Her kind, gentle hands fondle her rosary. On sweet lips are prayers for her loved ones.

When the grind and strife of the outside world . . . away from this cherished harbor of home—tends to callous one's soul towards things pure and sentimental, memory of this touching scene guides one back to a higher and brighter state of mind.

Again, away from the rugged highways of life's struggle one is carried, sometimes, for certain accomplishments. Friends and well wishers are very sincere and kind, but one would ask that the gentle night breezes carry forth a message . . . to the world.

The labor of the gentle hands that fondle a rosary in the moonlight . . . the words of encouragement that pointed the way of right and wrong were uttered by the sweet lips that moved in prayer. . . Her many sacrifices and years of self denial, her dauntless courage in the face of adversity. . . to all these sterling marks of character and accomplishments must any consideration for the humble efforts of a son be reflected . . . Mother's love. . . faith . . . and prayers are the inspiration upon which all life draws its form and beauty. . . God bless her loving heart.

during the day. What an opportunity for young men and women of Bay St. Louis, and for some not quite so young! The advantages of the biggest city in an educational way, has been brought to them by the Rotary Club.

On every hand there were signs of fall as Dr. C. M. Shipp, E. J. Gex and Leo W. Seal returned from Jackson, to which place they had gone to be present to the burial of their friend and associate, H. S. Weston. And the travelers knew that other signs of a waning season would soon follow. Leaves would turn free from the branches that gave them life and nourished them through a long summer. The last flower of the fields is about to wither and its seeds to be carried by the four winds. Viewing these things, the mourners probably thought of the friends who had been with them not so long ago, and of the governments of men that have risen, flourished and disappeared, even as the flowers of the fields. But when the members of the funeral party reflected on the life of the deceased, they were satisfied that it had been so lived that "when the summons came to join the innumerable caravan that moves into the mysterious realms, he did not go like the galley slaves at night, scourged to their dungeons, but sustained and soothed, like one who draws the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams."

COLLEGE ROCK-A-CHAWS TO BE IN BETTER SHAPE NEXT WEEK BY THIS TIME

Getting Ready For Opening Game With Kiln Septmber 26—Rocks Will Be Lighter But the Backfield Heavier More Power, More Speed.

The 1931 Rock-A-Chaws have begun to shape up and undoubtedly will have assumed more definite form by this time next week. Grady has been working Verlander and Andrade at the center position with Verlander looking as if he would have first call; Weatherford, Hobbs, Reine, and Gonzalez fighting for a guard position; Hobbs is a letter man from last year and he certainly is not allowing any grass to grow under his feet. The tackle position left vacant by the graduation of Saucier and Gremillion is being fought for by Daigle, Richarme, Castro and Loch, with the first three holding down a good chance for the first game next week. Ducas an end from the 1930 team has Artiques, Cacio and J. Gonzalez for competitors. The backfield position is not at all settled with the exception of Linam at full. Baquet, Maurig, Kidd, Roth, Toarmina, Smythe and D. Roth all looking for a place. Kidd and Artiques are looking for the signal calling position. Both young men had changes at this position with the second string last year. Grady intends sending the squad into a scrimmage by next Monday or Tuesday with a short game next Thursday in preparation for the opening on the 26th with the Kiln. Consolidated. The Rocks as a whole will be lighter than last year but the backfield will be heavier and will pack more power. Too, more speed will be in evidence.

Coquille, Formerly at Edgewater Gulf Hotel Dies In Chicago

Funeral services for John H. "Hy-po" Coquille, 48 years old, well-known artist-photographer, who died suddenly Saturday at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago, were held Monday afternoon at Donaldsonville with interment in the Donaldsonville cemetery. Mr. Coquille for the past six years had been publicity director for the Edgewater Beach and Edgewater Gulf hotels, dividing his time between Chicago and Edgewater Park. He began his career as a staff photographer for the old New Orleans Times-Democrat and while engaged in newspaper work he gained a reputation for always "getting his man" by always obtaining photographs which he was assigned to get.

100 YOUNGSTERS ANSWER CALL FOR JUNIOR FOOTBALL ELEVEN AT S. S. C.

Bro. Conrad Sends S. O. S. Call—Bobby Camors and "Tuga" Glover Comes to Rescue Lending Helping Hand—Great Things Ahead.

Brother Conrad gave the initial call for the football squad of the little yard and exactly 100 youngsters answered the summons. Everyone is anxious to make a place on the different teams that will be formed. So many new ones answered that it was necessary to tell some of them that no right fielders were wanted and neither was there any need of pitchers.

At this writing there are so many candidates for the backfield that Brother Conrad had to send in a call for additional help. "Tuga" Glover and Bobby Camors have been lending a helping hand. Any one wishing to see how football is acquired, has just to stop in at the campus any afternoon from three to five. Many of them know to tackle by instinct and as for blocking they already seem to be experts, but we believe a little polishing will be necessary. Here are some of the "prospects": Verges, Ryan, W. Twenty-Eight Boys Report at Bay High For Football Activity

By JAMES HAYS.

With eight letter men from last year's Gulf Coast Regional Class B Championship football team, Coach Hippo Phillips has 19 other candidates to mold into 2 remaining backfield places and one line position. The most serious problem is the building of a new backfield left vacant by the four-year stars, Nolan Ladner, and Nolan Tacqui. The latter was Captain and quarterback for three years and the former dominated the half back position. Gus Terry, halfback, and Dich Koch, fullback, will also be missed, along with Ed Laroux, end, and Marvin Whitfield, linebacker. Earl Raymond, Orest Laurent, David Middleton, Horatio Farve, Clifton Erwin, and Warren Larroux are from last year's regulars, while the reserves contribute Carl Coward and Ed Marquez. The 19 men are Jack Holliman, Cy Ladner, Cotton Collier, Curtis Ladner, Truman Beeson, Roy Jordy, J. V. Bontemps, Milton Moran, oe Loicano, William Smith, Al D. Fayard, Walter Baxter, Terrance Ansley, Roland Choina, Tony Stassi, Vincent Stassi, Michel Kiegler, Tyrrel Manieri and Woodrow Lafontain.

Aimee Semple McPherson, high priestess of Angeles Temple, Los Angeles, annexed another husband, he being several years her junior. The female evangelist has launched out on the sea of matrimony several times and if her latest venture proves a success it will be a matter for surprise.

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

S. J. A. STUDENTS ATTEND MASS IN HONOR OF THE HOLY GHOST.

An annual occurrence at the beginning of each school year is the Mass which is said at the Church of Our Lady of the Gulf in honor of the Holy Ghost. This mass is attended by the students of St. Stanislaus College, the Boys' School and St. Joseph's Academy, and has as its express purpose the begging of God's blessing on the pupils of these respective schools as well as on their work during the school year just beginning.

The mass for the 1931-1932 session took place Wednesday morning at 6:00 o'clock, Rev. Father Leo F. Fahey officiating. The students of the three schools were present in large numbers, practically every class at S. J. A. being able to boost 100 per cent attendance both at mass and Holy Communion. The girls of S. J. A. sang several hymns during the mass and also during the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament which immediately followed the mass.

CHILDREN OF MARY HOLD FIRST MEETING.

The Children of Mary met for the first time this year last Thursday afternoon at two thirty o'clock. The work of the Sodality during the past year was reviewed and the hope was fostered that the S. J. A. Sodality would accomplish yet more and still bigger things during the coming year.

It was announced at this meeting that the election of officers for 1931-1932 would take place next Thursday. The girls were reminded of the qualities which they should look for in the officers of their Sodality. The election of officers was purposely put off till the next meeting in order to give the Children of Mary time to make the proper choice of the candidates who are to serve the Sodality as officers during the coming year.

The Freshmen just entering the High school will be considered as the "Stunts" of the Sodality until the time of their reception as full fledged Children of Mary, which reception will probably take place some time in December.

Sunday was the Sodality's monthly communion day. Twenty five of the Socialists were present in a body at the seven o'clock mass.

RUMORS OF A MUSIC CLUB.

The music students of S. J. A. are eagerly looking forward to the organization of the St. Cecilia's Music Club, the first meeting of the club will probably be held during the latter part of this week.

At the first meeting, the officers will be elected, the number and order of the meetings will be decided upon, and plans will be made for the coming year.

The music students are very enthusiastic about the club, and all are going to try hard to make it a success.

A GLIMPSE OF A JUNIOR'S DIARY FOR LAST MONTH.

Dear Diary: My, but time does fly! One week ago today school opened and now it seems as if there never had been a vacation, so hard are we at work again. There is no alternative, and much as we would have it otherwise, Latin or French, Algebra, Science, and History must now replace swimming, tennis, picnicking or "just loafing." However, we may get off a half hour earlier Wednesday. Isn't that a lucky break Diary, dear? That is if everyone in our class turns out for Mass Wednesday morning. Woe betide, any slackers in our midst. I would like so much to live up to my name of "Jolly Junior," but how can I, when only of my jolliest classmates has not yet returned to school? I do so hope that she quickly recovers from the present illness, because I miss her "terribly." She is such a cheerful and optimistic disposition. I am thinking thought, how well these qualities must serve her during this present illness. This is all for to-day, Diary, dear, good-bye until tomorrow, for I must get busy at my History and Latin. Lovingly, A Junior

THE ECHO'S COOKING CLASS

"I can't think of anything that would really taste good, anyway I haven't time to plan a meal so I'll just let the cook get something together. If John is hungry he'll eat it." How often have you listened to words like these. Then at dinner she wonders why John doesn't seem to have an appetite and why John eats the same thing at the neighbors and not at his own home. Poor thing, she doesn't realize the difference of having food served or having it thrown at one. All of us can't have a gift for making varied and artistic food combinations, but all housekeepers can take time and plan their meals. Don't be a woman to whom peas are just boiled and steak just fried. Refuse to stay on the beaten track of everyday cookery. Learn some new and interesting ways that can be done to ordinary foods.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT AT BAY HI DESPITE LOSS OF REGULARS

Following several days preliminary workouts more than twenty aspiring candidates for the Bay St. Louis High school football team, three-time champions of the Gulf Coast Regional Class B division, began more strenuous practices this week preparing for a campaign in title defense that has every conference squad listed.

Notwithstanding the mainstays of the three-time champion machine are missing, Coach Hippo Phillips, former St. Stanislaus college star athlete, beginning his second successive year at the head of Bay St. Louis Hi athletics after one year as assistant coach at Gulf Coast Military Academy, is much impressed over the outlook for the 1931 season.

The first practice call early last week eight lettermen were among the large squad of candidates giving Coach Phillips ample experienced talent to form his regular team. Then in the practices several newcomers have shown well, Coach Phillips indicated.

The lettermen back this year includes six last year's regular players and two others who played several quarters. The returning men are, arl Raymond, Orest Daurent, Clifton Erwin, H. Favre, Warren Larroux, Ed Montez, R. Cowan and David Middleton.

Three of the lettermen lost last spring by graduation were the main offensive cogs of the championship machine, leaving Raymond to carry the burden this fall unless more capable ball carriers are uncovered in the new intake.

Backfielders lost to Coach Phillips this season included Nolan Tacconi, quarterback for the past three years, Nalon Ladner, one of the leading half-backs of Class B division and Richard Koch, blond terror in Bay's 1930 edition. Koch was the conference leading fullback last season. Linemen who graduated are Ed Laroux, Marvin Whitfield and Gus Terry.

Task confronting Coach Phillips this year is unquestionably difficult. In three years that Bay St. Louis has been represented in Class B football not on conference opponent has scored a victory. And to make the record more remarkable only two touchdowns have been scored—each by a different team and neither the same season.

The complete schedule for Bay St. Louis this year follows:

Sept. 25.—Open.
Oct. 3.—Long Beach at Bay St. Louis.
Oct. 9.—Ocean Springs at Bay St. Louis.
Oct. 15 or 16.—Lyman-Bay St. Louis at Gulfport (probable night game).

Oct. 30.—Bay St. Louis at Pascagoula.
Nov. 7.—Holy Cross (place undecided).

BINGHAM BEARS DEFEAT COAST STARS BY SCORE 12-5

Bingham Bears romped over the Coast Stars Sunday afternoon hammering two Coast Star pitchers for 17 hits and a 12-5 decision. F. Favre and P. J. Collier hauled a steady game for the Bears and were never in danger, as their mates unleashed a heavy batting attack giving them an early commanding lead.

The Bingham Bears signed up three new players, D. Fayard second base, F. Bourgeois, shortstop, S. Bourgeois center field. The Bingham Bears will play host to Gulfport this Sunday.

The site is the same as the Oaks hotel, destroyed by fire two years ago, and which was one of the beauty spots of Hammond.

The new and modern hotel will have 57 rooms.

A. H. Alvis, who operates several hotels in Mississippi and Louisiana, was at Hammond recently and completed his lease with the Strawberry and Vegetable Auction, Inc., which will finance the new project.

A Chicago man was hailed into court on a charge of selling his wife. He said it was all a mistake, that he only paid a friend $100 to take her away.

This Mississippi Press Association will hold its annual meeting in Biloxi this week, and there will probably be a larger attendance than at any meeting for several years past.

Is It Fair to the Railroads, Asks This County Commissioner

"It is fair to tax heavily the railroads, which built and maintain their own lines of transportation, and permit the truck and bus lines, which may practically no tax, to use and destroy the highways built and paid for by taxpayers at a heavy cost?" asks S. G. Walker of the office of the county commissioners, Memphis, Tenn., in the September issue of the Illinois Central Magazine. "I am not a railway man," concludes Mr. Walker, "and I am sorry to say that I do not own a dime's worth of stock in any railway company, but I am a highway engineer, who has spent the best years of my life in highway work, and it makes me sick when I see the highways used for a purpose for which they were never intended or designed."

Judge, sternly: "Well, what is your alibi for speeding fifty miles an hour?"

George: "I had just heard my wife's church was giving a rummage sale and I was hurrying home to save my other pair of pants."

Judge: "Case dismissed."

Personal and General Notes of Week From Waveland and Vicinity

V. E. WEBER Box 134
Waveland, Miss.

Our town of Waveland had one of the largest crowds of summer tourists as well as families owning homes in vicinity and elsewhere this past season. The merchants boast of a very thrifty business, and the town is gaining headway right along. Everyone seems to be happy at all times, in fact the general conditions of everyone we meet around and about daily, this speaks well for everything.

Our school children are hard at work already and contemplate doing big things this coming term.

The Nix family have started building their new home on our beautiful beach boulevard.

Among our students entering Day High are Miss Maud Bourgeois, Miss Rose Rühr, Mable, Alphonse Favre.

The very many friends of Mr. Cyril Bourgeois will be happy to learn of his steady improvement, being stricken with a slight stroke a few days ago.

The Hellbach family left for New Orleans after spending the summer with us.

A slight accident occurred when two cars collided, fortunately no one was seriously hurt. The occupants were Miss Blanche and Miss Rühr.

The White family accompanied by their niece Miss Ora May moved in their new home in Nicholson ave.

Mr. Herbert Laidin and Mr. John Miller will leave for Detroit to attend the convention of the American Legion.

Professor and Mrs. George Shilling have moved in their new home in St. Joseph Street.

Mr. O. C. Willcox is over visiting his brother and wife.

We are glad to note that Mrs. Carlotta Fairchild and sister will be with us this coming winter.

Mrs. Ed. C. Carriere motored to New Orleans combining business with pleasure.

Among one of our pretty sights in town is the Lizana pear orchard. It lends much beauty to their cozy home in Jeff Davis ave.

Mr. V. E. Lizana after spending a few days with his family left again for an extended business trip.

Many people were seen Sunday prospecting for home sites in vicinity of Waveland Highlands, getting ready for early Spring.

A meeting will be held at the home of Miss Louise Armstrong Sunday, at 2 P. M., to discuss study and progress of music.

BAY SAINT LOUIS OF OTHER DAYS IN TIME OF SCUPPERNONG SEASON

Ready Sale For the Delicious Fruit to Visitors—Oysters Then Were Sold By the Hundred—Were Cheap, Palatable and Plentiful.

The scuppernong season now in vogue, brings to mind a phase of Old Bay St. Louis, when almost every beach villa and other old home-steads had its back yard with an arbor of scuppernong. No home of any consequence was complete it seemed without its scuppernong (light green) or (purple) vine.

"These were the good old days," remarks an old timer at our elbow. "Such yards also had its peach, pear and fig trees. No place was worth-while, the master or owner thought, unless there was a liberal quota of fruit-bearing vines and trees."

One well remembers, and not so many years back, when the Indians, residing in that section near Bay St. Louis later known as Dillville, along the banks of Bayou L'Anse-au-Loup, came to the village of Bay St. Louis burdened not only with skillfully woven baskets, intriguing masterpieces of the weaver's ingenuity, but with the luscious scuppernong, for which they found ready sale as they went from door to door.

Someone asks if so many dwelling places had their own scuppernong vine, to whom did the Indians and others sell?

To the summer residents and visitors. The demand was always a ready one, and no excursionists on Sunday and Wednesday even went back home to New Orleans without a gallon of scuppernongs. In addition the excursionists or visitors never failed to go home without a couple hundred oysters.

The oyster shops down the beach were numerous. The bivalves were small but delicious and sold from 20 to 25 cents per hundred. They were put-up in used pickle bottles, and the bottle was included in the price of the oysters.

Many readers of this sketch will remember these days. And they were not much over twenty and twenty-five years ago. Today, somehow, or another these good things to eat from Bay St. Louis that were brought away and back to the folks home are no more. They seemed to have gone the way of the fried oyster sandwich and fish sandwich.

These things, glimpses of other years, seemed to have faded. The romance of it all is not lost, and it is a profitable business gone, and it is a wonder then in these days that "the things that were are no more" that we cannot help but think of the unemployed.

The oyster shops were located about a hundred feet down from the beach side of Front street, over the beach strand and into the shallow waters of the bay. There was one near the L. & N. trestle, opposite the old Crescent Hotel, there was another down the wharf head of Washington street, then there was another later on down near the head of Main street, on down near the hundreds! No one, even for home consumption, purchased by the dozen. It was always by the 100 and 25 cents was the price.

And were they good? Not only deliciously salty but plentiful. There was quite a part of the summer business and went forth to the outside world as an advertisement for Bay St. Louis.

Old timer asks, Would you be satisfied to go back to those days? Well, the reply was, that is debatable. But the memory of it lives and it is a pleasure to live it over even though only in retrospection.

ACTION AWAITED ON DISBARMENT CASES IN JACKSON

Four Cases Open as Fate of Four Rests With Supreme Court—Decision Within Month.

Four courses are open to the Mississippi supreme court that a few days since held the fate of four attorneys named as principals of the $80,000 Warrenite scandal which has engrossed the state for two years, says an Associated Press news special from Jackson.

The supreme court ended its hearing of arguments on the motions brought by the grievance committee for disbarment for asserted unethical practices of Carl Marshall, Bay St. Louis; Lester Franklin, chairman of the State Tax Commission, and District Attorney J. H. Howie of Jackson. The motion against Sam Latham, who now lives in Illinois, and who was not represented by counsel, was presented just prior to adjournment, and his disbarment without argument asked.

The court can decide for disbarment, temporary suspension, censure or exonerate. The grievance committee, in its briefs, asked for disbarment, but Judge Jeff Truly, in the opening argument for the prosecution Tuesday, asked that the disbarment penalty not be made permanent. The defense asked for complete exoneration of Marshall, Franklin and Howie.

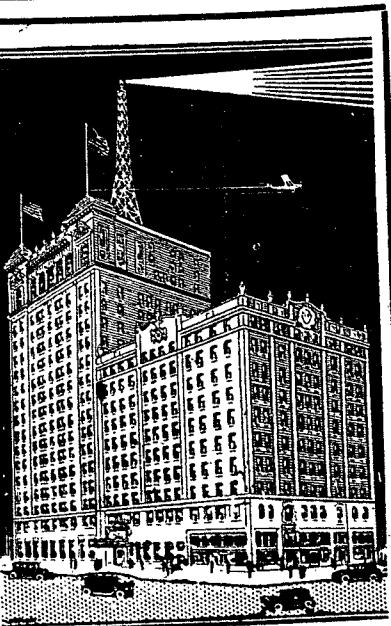

The two-day hearing of argument of opposing counsel came to a close with the prosecution's rebuttal. A decision is expected within a month.

NATURALNESS MAKES WILL ROGERS A GREAT COMEDIAN

Frank Borzage Director Of His New Film "Young As You Feel" Bares Star's Success Secrets

"The one thing that makes Will Rogers the outstanding film star of today is his own ability to make audiences forget that he is a comedian."

The above statement was made by Frank Borzage, while he was directing Rogers in his new Fox picture, "Young As You Feel," which will be at The A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday.

"This quality of his becomes very apparent," continued Borzage, "in scenes where Rogers is called upon to portray the simple human emotions that touch the very soul of mankind. The sincerity and conviction with which he does them is what we might expect of a great tragedian. Audiences forget Rogers as a wisecracker and think of him only as a human being torn with emotion. And I know, for 'Young As You Feel' is the second Rogers picture I have directed, the first being 'They Had To See Paris.'"

In the present Rogers production she has the leading feminine role, that of a young French dancer, who makes Rogers, in the character of the old, woe-borne and dyspeptic millionaire meat packer forget his years and troubles and rejuvenates him into such a fast stepper that his two spirited sons are soon outdistanced.

Lucien Littlefield is another noted comedian who is to be seen in support of Rogers. Other members of the well balanced cast are Donald Dillaway, Terrance Ray, Lucile Browne, Rosalie Roy, C. Henry Gordon and Brandon Hurst.

"Young As You Feel" is the talking screen's version of the famous stage play, "Father and The Boys," which was written by the eminent humorist and slang linguist, George Ade. The screen play was adapted in continuity and dialog by Edwin Burke, and according to advance reports from critics who have already seen it, the photoplay suits Rogers' homely style of wit and philosophy much better than any of the previous Rogers successes.

Baton Rouge Business Men Know Value of Good Advertising Idea

An illuminated sign, the gift of Baton Rouge, La., business men, now adorns the rear end of The Baton Rougean, a new train recently put on by the Illinois Central System between that city and New Orleans, according to the September issue of the Illinois Central Magazine. An outline of the new state capitol, now under construction, is part of the design.

Price of Horseflesh Still Commands Plenty Of Real Cold Cash

An average price of $2,277 for yearling race-horses sold over a year period by the Sominco Farms, Christian County, Kentucky, indicates that race-horse breeding is getting to be a profitable industry. So declare Shelby Peace, commissioner of finance and safety, Hopkinsville, Ky., writing in the Illinois Central Magazine for September. Total yearling sales, he estimates, bring into Christian County approximately $100,000 annually.

WE LIVE AT HOME.

We live at home at our house, So pardon this profession. We snap our fingers in the face Of times of deep depression.

We do not owe a single cent, We've saved a little money. We paid our taxes on the dot With cash from milk and honey.

Our pantry shelves are loaded down With good things for the winter. Our garden is a paradise For anyone to enter.

Our orchard trees are all sweet with fruit. We have potato patches. Our vineyard is a thing of joy, Our melon acre matches.

Our poultry-yard is fresh and clean And full to overflowing. Our flower garden, too, is fair With blossoms ever blowing.

Our barns are filled with everything That's good for food and feeding. Our horses, mules and cows and pigs, The best the time are breeding.

Our house is freshly painted white, And everything about it, Is looking like we want it to, And don't you ever doubt it.

Our corn and cotton in the fields Were never any better. The Lord has been so good to us, He's made us all his debtor.

We live at home at our house, So pardon this profession. We snap our fingers in the face Of times of deep depression.

If every farmer in the land Will work in place of whining, We'll turn the old cloud wrong side out, And find the silver lining.

Let every tiller live at home, For once obey a poet. Depression then may sweep the land, He'll never even know it.

young Mr. Sylvester. There's even a new town, and that adds flavor to college life, making it somewhat different than attending a higher school in the town where one was born and raised. Soon Clyde will have become accustomed to the new surroundings and the A. & M. campus will have claimed him as its own. Gridiron honors will come to him, and there in that academic atmosphere knowledge will be gained that will last as long as life. And there will be experiences and associations! The memories of them will please and amuse long after learned at college will have been forgotten.

Reading of the activities of the Central School P.-T. A. co-incident with the opening of Bay St. Louis schools, I know that the ladies most active in this useful work often think of their first days in school as they go about making the life of all school children brighter. And, though far from a schoolroom, memories of my first school day are in mind as I write these lines. I close my eyes and see again a little girl in a blue ging-ham dress, her flaxen curls held in place by a new ribbon, purchased for the occasion by her parents at some sacrifice to themselves. Her mother, in a new blouse, is masking his misgivings behind a bold air, for although the little girl's senior by more than a year, this is his first day of school too. Hand in hand they started on the great road they had to travel. Neither a bouquet of asters, tightly clutched in her brother's hand is a bright red apple, offerings for the teacher, who awaits them at the end of their path. Down the sun-painted road they go, that bright September morning, while tall, nodding trees assure them that all will be well. However, school wasn't exactly what we thought "would be." Neither have other places and things been as that particular little boy and girl encountered them in later years.

And Theodore Bilbo now comes forward like a fine young man and assures Mike Connor of his support. Theodore and Mike have fought like quarrelsome school boys for the past several years. Now that Mike has finally won out, Theodore tells him that he wants to be friends. But there are very few who expect Mike to share any of his treasures with Theo.

Last week's Echo noted an action on the part of the Chamber of Commerce of Bay St. Louis which might well be used as a model for other towns. At the call of Pres. Geo. R. Rea, representatives of all civic and fraternal organizations will meet on September 10, having for their purpose the coordinating of all unemployment relief. When the meeting has accomplished what it set out to do, Bay St. Louis will have a formidable force with which to combat the specter of unemployment which is already raising its head. Too many cooks sometimes spoil a soup, but while the efforts of any individual local organization will be productive, they will not bring the results that will be attained with all organizations working under some sort of common direction.

Ballots will soon be mailed to every member of the local Chamber of Commerce with the request that they vote for the nomination of sixteen members who shall act as directors of the organization. Those who feel satisfied with the manner in which the affairs of the body have been conducted will naturally vote for the old directors, providing this is permitted by the governing rules. The dissatisfied members will vote for new directors. And what about the fellow who has complained all year about the shortcomings of the Chamber of Commerce?

A Critical Time In Every Woman's Life.

"During a critical time in my life I took Cardui for several months. I had hot flashes. I would suddenly get dizzy and seem blind. I would get faint and have no strength. My nerves were on edge. I would not sleep at night. 'Cardui did wonders for me. I recommend it to all women who are passing through the critical period of change. I have found it a fine medicine.'—Mrs. Hettie Murphy, Poplar Bluff, Mo.

Chevrolet connecting rods are matched in sets of six to within one-quarter ounce, and are individually fitted by hand to the crankshaft. Bearings are of Habbitt metal cast into the rods under heavy air pressure and at 900 degrees Fahrenheit.

Possessing the basic goodness of sound design and fine manufacture

CHEVROLET From the selection of raw materials to the completion of the finished Chevrolet product, each process of building, assembling and checking the Chevrolet Six is marked by extreme care and precision. An exhaustive system of test and inspection makes certain that every part meets specified dimensions exactly. Many of these parts are held to limits of one ten-thousandth of an inch. No manufacturer in the industry uses more care or precision in building and testing than Chevrolet.

In planning the motor, Chevrolet engineers were not content to offer the public anything less than tried and proved design. They knew that the only satisfactory way to get smooth, flexible power in a car is to use at least six cylinders. So they adopted the six-cylinder engine without compromise. And this is what you get in today's Chevrolet Six.

As a result of this sound designing and sound manufacturing, you can buy a Chevrolet and know you are getting a genuinely good automobile—soundly designed, soundly built, basically and technically right.

erful position in the world. Happily the country has suffered but little in the past from inefficient men who accidentally gained the presidency in this way. So in some ways it might be well to have Senator Harrison for vice president.

But whether Harrison is President or Senator, the Empress Eugenie hat, as last week's paper said, will continue to look as ridiculous as ever. Somehow or the other, I can't be persuaded that the great Empress ever wore such a creation, unless it was at a comic masked ball, of which there were quite a few in her day.

Inn-by-the-Sea

Closes For the Fall

Inn-by-the-Sea, famous hotel on Bay St. Louis, opposite this city, closed its doors for the fall season last week after a successful summer season. Labor-day weekend-end found every room in the Inn occupied and forced to turn away trade. Manager Martin has had a most successful season, considering the trend of times. People go to the Inn for its beauty and charm throughout the place; for the wonderfully prepared meals and service and the attractions about the place. The Inn is operated by the management of the Edgewater Gulf Hotel and will reopen its doors for the winter season possibly Thanksgiving Day or on December 15, depending on completion of a number of improvements that are planned for the place to be done between now and that time. Many visitors are expected for the winter. Mr. Martin said, and it is possible we will have a full house throughout the season.

—Shrimp have been plentiful during the past week or ten days and every one who is an adept in the art of throwing the castnet has had no trouble in making good catches.

—Among recent interesting events was the arrival of a 10-pound baby girl to Mr. and Mrs. George Perovich. Mrs. Perovich bore her marriage was Miss Marie Perre.

—Mrs. E. J. Leonard moved Thursday from her hotel apartment back into her own North Beach Boulevard home and where she is "at home" to her friends. Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Partridge and daughter have leased the Leonard home and with Mrs. Leonard will make their home.

—The aspirations of several candidates for municipal office will have to "go on the ice" until the supreme court hands down a decision on the question of holding the city election this year or next year. However, a little thing like waiting for that decision isn't going to deter or hinder the candidates in pushing their claims and impressing "the dear people" with their fitness and qualifications for office.

—Judge J. A. Breath is in New Orleans to spend a fortnight with his daughter, Mrs. E. J. Calagne. The memory of man does not harken back to the time when The Echo's venerable and highly esteemed friend has ever taken so long a vacation from his duties as secretary of the local building and loan association, and it is our sincere wish that he may enjoy every moment he is out of his office.

At Memphis, Tenn., Mrs. McDonald will join her sister, Mrs. W. K. Warren, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, and they will drive to Nashville to take part in the wedding of their youngest sister.

—Visitors to New Orleans will find the advertisement of the Jung Hotel, appearing regularly in the columns of The Sea Coast Echo, an ideal place to register. The hotel is new and strictly modern, rates reasonable and location one of the best in the city. Stopping at the Jung when in the big city assures the visitor added comfort and satisfaction.

—Mrs. C. J. Fuch with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur De Fraites, and her sister, Mrs. John Dugan, recently passed through Bay St. Louis after visiting at Ashville and Hendersonville, North Carolina, stopping a while at Atlanta, Ga., on their way. The party motored and enjoyed a most perfect trip and stay in the Land of the Sky.

—Miss Thelma Eagan, valued at-tachee of the auditing office at Louisville, Ky., for Louisville and Nashville railroad company, was home for the week-end, visiting her mother, Mrs. Lydia Eagan, at her home in Main street, also her sister, Mrs. Townsend Wolfe. McDonald, who left last month on the "Know Mississippi Deter" train, is still away, visiting relatives and friends of former times in Tennessee and North Mississippi and plans to be away yet for some time. "Mr. Mac" takes these occasional trips and never fails to visit every point and stays long enough to see and enjoy every phase of travel. During his absence the vast business interest of W. A. —Rev. Father Leo F. Fahey is in receipt of a letter from Rev. A. J. Gmelch, pastor of the local Catholic church, who recently left by auto with Rev. Fathers Leach and Cary, of the Coast, that the party was traveling up the Atlantic seaboard with much ease, comfort and pleasure, stopping wherever they liked a place and in no hurry on their tour of the East and Canada. The party had already visited parts of Florida, Charlotte and Richmond, Va., and were en route to Washington, D. C., from which point they would journey on to New York City thence into Canada. The party will be gone about a month.

—A New Orleans print says: Mrs. John M. Stewart, who has been at her summer home in Bay St. Louis for the past several months and who will remain here until later in the season, spent Wednesday in New Orleans. On her return to the resort she was accompanied by Mrs. Charles A. Farwell, who will visit her for a week. Mrs. Stewart also will have as her guests over the week-end Miss Alice Schaefer, Mr. Raymond E. Shanzer and Dr. George L. Hardin. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farwell and their little children, who have been at Bay St. Louis, with Mrs. Farwell's mother, Mrs. John M. Stewart, for the past few months, also will remain at the resort until later in the season. Mr. Farwell is among the commuters to the Coast.

Had she seen she would have been happy to know that she was blessed, carried, and enclosed by men she knew from childhood and their parents before them. It was a consolation to us to know that her every wish was fulfilled. We pray these friends will always cherish her memory. Our love and thanks for their priceless friendship. Sincerely, M. E. CLAYTON RAND TELLS ROTARY CLUB OF RECENT TRIP TO MEXICO

Press Congress of the World, for which I was for a time Field Secretary, we were guests of the Mexican government. Naturally the entertainment was more or less lavish. There was available for every delegate between public receptions and entertainments, an automobile with driver, interpreter and a host of other services. Coming as Mexico's guests, Mexicans assumed personal responsibility for our safety and even our conduct.

The regional session of the Press Congress was composed of delegates from Mexico, Central and South American countries, the West Indies, India, Spain, Germany, New Zealand and other countries and cities in addition to our own. The Congress itself was as stormy as any I have ever experienced. Presided over by Robert Bell of New Zealand, the General of South Americans, through their voluble spokesman, all seemed to have some grievance against the imperialism of either England or my own country. Day after day bitterness and pandemonium ruled over the gathering in a constant effort to have resolutions adopted by the Congress in opposition to England's suppression of news from India, American intervention in Nicaragua or her intervention in the benighted black Republic of Haiti.

The experiences were unpleasant and could I have spoken Spanish as those who imparted their venom, I might have precipitated additional argument. But the spirit of American delegates present was one in which they let them get their grievances off their chests while we turned our problems peculiar to the press as they prevail in this region.

Through the unstinted hospitality of the Mexican Republic and the officials of Mexico City we were taken to many points of interest in the mountains and through the valleys. We went to the pyramids of San Juan Teotihuacan; to Puebla, the second largest city in the Republic; to Cuernavaca; to Taxco and many other cities lying within seven hours ride by car from the city proper.

Taxco in particular is a little Spanish city lying in the mountains about six hours from Mexico City, which has just been made easily accessible through the building of a highway through the mountain, the highway even yet being incomplete. This little city ordered built by Cortez on a half way point between the Atlantic and Pacific is a city unspoiled. It is as it was years ago, the exceptional change being that the original Spanish dwellers have been replaced by Indians who speak Spanish and have preserved in a high degree the culture, the architecture and the traditions of their conquerors. There is in this village of 3,000 people one of the most picturesque cathedrals in the Western hemisphere, built by the order of Cortez 400 years ago. There are preserved in its paintings valued in excess of half a million dollars.

Cuernavaca, an old city, has come into prominence because here Senator Dwight L. Morrow while ambassador purchased an old Spanish hacienda in the gardens of which Lindbergh first articulated his feelings for Anne. In this city also is preserved the home of Cortez, the Conquerer.

My column could be filled with the mere recital of cities visited and historic sights with which I became more familiar on this second visit to our neighboring Republic.

In our honor there were staged great fiestas. We saw in the stadium on Sunday morning a demonstration in which 2,000 students, police officials, motorcycleists, firemen and others participated, which was as finished in its gymnastics, marching, riding and drilling effort as I have ever witnessed, even should I include the orderly march of German soldiers or our own cadets at West Point.

Of course, there was the proverbial bull fight in which from my last experience I observed a certain humaneness expressed in the padded protection to the horses and the armor worn beneath the clothing of the "picadores." In the fight I saw only two of the horses, because of this protection were gored to death. I think our readers should be reminded of the fact that the Mexican Republic geographically is five times the size of Germany or Texas with a population of 17,000,000, and that there are areas yet in that vast country the size of Mississippi exclusively inhabited by Indians, their territory never having been penetrated by the whites.

Mexico City having doubled its population in 20 years has reached the 1,200,000 mark. It was a city of 400,000 before our Pilgrim fathers set foot upon our shores. It is richly endowed with art galleries, museums, parks, statuary and public buildings of architectural grandeur. Perhaps there is not a city in the United States near the size of the capital of the Mexican Republic, the culture of which is as rich, largely because, of course, this size and its accumulation of public treasures.

But this culture is in a primitive setting which within a few hours ride is so rustic and enchanting that it has little changed over the centuries.

As I scribble along I find it impossible to bring into this column for your purposes anything like a story of my recent excursion. I may say in conclusion that the outstanding impression geared from this interesting journey was the bitterness towards my country so openly expressed in the Congress which I attended and along with that the tremendous improvements that have come into Mexico since I saw it seven years ago. Chief of these changes is the friendly spirit of the Mexican people which as I take it has been highly cultivated through the diplomatic and sympathetic understanding of Dwight Morrow and the psychological result of Lindbergh's flight and courtship. After all these people of Indian and Spanish extraction, even among the cultured and educated, are proud people with the fire of the heart. More so than with us they are people of sentiment and feeling.
